Mrs. Jarrett's Journal 2012

Look What We Are Studying:

Reading- We will continue to work on inferring, questioning, determining importance, and synthesizing. We'll work on fluency and comprehension strategies.

Math- We will begin working on multiplication and simple division, as well as review other skills and problem-solving.

Science- We have finished our study of forces and pollution.

Soc. St.- We'll learn about Jimmy Carter, Georgia and US symbols.

Writing- We will write how-to and persuasive pieces. We'll also continue editing, revising, and adding details and voice in our writing.

-Spring fever is here in full force! Please remind your child that school isn't out for the summer quite yet and that we still have learning and work to do. With the beautiful weather and fun spring sports/activities going on, it's sometimes hard to keep our minds on school. Thanks for your continued help at home!

-Please let me know if you can volunteer at Field Day. Mr. Corley is in need of help to ensure a fun day!

We have begun cursive writing, and I need parents' help at home. Please review cursive sent home for a little extra practice as it is hard to help one-on-one with everyone. It doesn't have to be "mastered," but we do introduce each letter. The main things to tell them: always push up from the bottom line, don't pick up your point until you're finished, & use smooth strokes.
